Should you come to the Leadership Transition Meeting? (June 20)

If you are a state officer, you should be there. If you are an outgoing state committee chair or an incoming chair, please plan to attend and bring materials to exchange. All newly elected members of the Finance Committee (2015-19) and continuing members (2013-17) should attend, along with incoming District Coordinators. If you signed up to be on any committee, it would help if you would come, too, so you can meet and plan with your new committee chair. A registration form for the State Leadership Transition Meeting on June 20 is included, p. 15.

SUPPORTING OUR LEADERS

To have a strong, working organization, it is important to elect leaders who are willing to serve and to then support them during their biennium. This is true at all levels of The Delta Kappa Gamma Society International. In 2013, I was excited about being nominated for Oregon State Organization president because I had made a lot of friends with our members during my biennium as Vice President. Working with different chapters while organizing conventions was a real plus for me. I knew I had the membership's backing so, if elected, I would have all the support I needed to be a successful president. I was also fortunate to be retired, which gave me the time needed to serve.

The first year of my biennium, I was able to visit every chapter, either individually or at a district meeting. During those visits, I had two goals: (1) to explain the BEAR Project and (2) to talk about the leadership at the chapter level because new chapter officers would be elected in 2014. I am proud to say, even though it was hard for some chapters, every chapter managed to work out a way to have one or more chapter presidents for the 2014-2016 biennium. It is my hope that the other members of the chapters stepped up to support them. All members must support their officers to make their chapters strong. Every member must also be willing to take her turn as an officer when the time arises. Chapters, your present officers have successfully completed one year of their biennium, and the presidents were recognized at State Convention for a job well done. As they lead you into their final year, please be willing to serve during the 2016-2018 biennium so your chapter members can continue supporting each other, Alpha Rho State, DKG International, and Excellence in Education.

Welcome our newly elected state officers who will start their biennium on July 1, 2015! President Cindy Ryan, Vice President Kelly McIntyre, and Secretary Sandy Watts are ready to serve you. This will be the first biennium in a long time that we have had a working President and Vice President so it will be essential that our membership is there to support them.

Support comes in many different ways. This was the first year that all chapters, under the direction of their District Coordinators, helped to put on the state convention and what a success it was! When we have our 2017 convention (2016 will be our first official conference in Pendleton), we will do it the same way, except districts will have different jobs to do. President Cindy is filling positions on her leadership team and individuals are saying "yes" to chair committees. Next will be filling these committees with members from around the state. If you have an interest in being on one of the state committees, please e-mail President Cindy and volunteer. It is a great way to get to know more of our members. If you are asked to be on a state committee, I hope you are willing to say "yes."

Thank you for letting me serve you over the past biennium! You helped me grow as an individual and as a leader. Friday night's interactions at convention were all the evidence I needed to know that we are truly a Society of outstanding women educators who care about each other and work to make our world a better place! Blessings to all of you!

Your loving servant, Kathy

Working Together: Building Early Academic Readiness

Thank you for coming to "Teach Peace"!

Over the years, it has been my pleasure to work on several state conventions held in Eugene. Our 2015 convention was different because each district participated in some way. Our new system seemed to work very well. Members throughout the state seemed to enjoy helping with a specific task, and local members were able to help without being responsible for all facets of the convention. "Many hands make light work." Thank you all so much!

RECOGNIZING EXCELLENCE

2015 ALPHA RHO STATE SERVICE AWARDS

SERVICE TO COMMUNITY

Kathy Webster -L Priscilla Ing -R

Our Service to Community award goes to a member who is constantly making the world and her community a better place. She willingly volunteered her services when asked and creatively offered ideas and talents when considering global and local needs.

Her tireless efforts for over ten years have included helping women and children. She works with women as they are released from prison to rejoin the community. She sews sleeping bags for children in the First Place program and designs specialty aprons with lots of pockets for First Place teachers. She makes lap robes for residents of nursing homes and has created hundreds of fleece caps for children.

Another special project this person does is support the Springfield Public Library through Friends of the Library. She sorts hundreds of donated books and selects those for the annual Book Sale where proceeds directly benefit the library.

It is my pleasure to announce that our 2015 Service to Community award winner is KATHY HOWARD of Gamma Chapter.

SERVICE TO EDUCATION

Judy

The Service to Education recipient works tirelessly to aid teachers in making the classroom experiences the best possible for students. She is an invaluable asset to Douglas Gardens School and the surrounding community. She works individually with students in kindergarten classes, giving extra help and personalized attention. Each trimester she helps with student assessments so the teachers can continue teaching. As new students enter school, she gets to know them quickly and assesses them so they can be placed appropriately in reading and, if needed, into intervention groups.

As an invaluable asset to the school, she spends countless hours doing just about anything needed: she works at book fairs, organizes and labels things, and doesn't hesitate to take home hours of work like laminating, prepping for holiday projects, cutting and organizing. Although she tends to the needs of kindergarten so well, she helps all grade levels, giving undivided, resourceful, and organized attention.

Alpha Rho State's 2015 Service to Education Award goes to JUDY SHEPPARD of Gamma Chapter.

SERVICE TO ALPHA RHO STATE

Catie

The Service to Alpha Rho State recipient has been an active member in DKG for 17 years. She has served her chapter as president and by organizing fund raisers, service on special leadership committees and recruiting outstanding new members.

At the state level she served as District 5 Coordinator, on the Finance Committee, and on the Educational Excellence Committee representing Professional Development. In 2009, when Alpha Rho State hosted the NW Regional Conference, this person was the bags and registration table chair. That helped lead her to her current position. We all know her as the person who has neat items in the Boutique for us to buy!

It is my great pleasure to announce that CATIE THURBER-BROWN of Beta Beta Chapter is the 2015 Service to Alpha Rho State recipient.

FRIENDSHIPS-- NEW AND RENEWED

by
Dr. Barbara "Bobbie" Middaugh
Past State President

Emerson said, "Keep your friendships in repair." That was on my mind when I decided to attend our State Convention in Eugene, for I had not been to one since Astoria in 2011. The first friend I saw as I checked into the hotel was Grace, whom I had appointed State Editor in 2001! Checking in at DKG Registration, there was a friendly greeting from Pam, whose chapter I had visited as State President. Upon arrival in President Kathy's suite, past state presidents Pat, Jean, Madaline, Janet, Lynn, Alice and Bridget gave me big hugs and kind words of sympathy for the recent loss of my husband. I was suddenly "back in the fold, with a feeling of being surrounded by friends and "family."

There were several changes in the convention process since my tenure, 2001-2003, and I could see valid reasons for those changes, all for the better. I have never seen a theme, "Teach Peace," carried throughout a convention as thoroughly as that one was, so kudos to Yvonne!

Some special treats took place. What fun it was to rejoin Alpha Rhosies and be personally thanked by Bridget for doing so! It was an honor to meet a new friend, Fonda, who had been a member for two weeks, compared to my fifty years. There was some hilarity about being "old" when I received a lovely golden certificate honoring my fifty years in the Society. At least ten friends came up to say, "You certainly don't look 85!"

It was impressive to watch Jean as she guided us through the amendments to Standing Rules and Bylaws. Lively discussions took place. One, on the Order of the Rose Award, was particularly poignant for me, having initiated it while State President. Janet and I were on opposite sides of allowing transfers to count, but we're still friends!

Many more highlights took place at the convention which you will read about in other columns. I was especially delighted to have the ability to renew friendships, to build fond memories that will be held dear, and to observe the continuing "genuine spiritual fellowship" that exists in our Society. Thank you, Alpha Rho State, for wrapping me in your arms for a brief but most welcome time together.

FIRST TIMER'S IMPRESSION

Not knowing what to expect at my first State Convention, I figured I was just along for the ride. WOW! What a ride! I loved it all. I am so pleased to share in DKG's Peace Projects. Seeing people put aside their differences and work together warmed my heart. The two young women from the Middle East were so inspiring, as were each of the keynote speakers.

My favorite activity occurred on Friday evening, when I became known as "Two Weeks," the most recent Alpha Rho initiate. I was privileged to stand beside our 50-year member, Dr. Barbara Middaugh. What a pleasure to meet her.

Everyone made me feel so welcome by accepting me as an "educator" outside of a teaching degree (my degree is in nursing). I love children and watching those little light bulbs go on is such a treat. At this convention, I could tell how, through DKG membership and friendship, you support one another in your endeavor to bring up the next generation.

Well done, ladies. See you next year, with bells on!

REFLECTIONS ON THE 2015 ALPHA RHO CONVENTION TEACH PEACE

After the Alpha Rho State Convention in Eugene (April 17-19, 2015), our heads are spinning! The hours were packed with socializing, recreation, business, traditions, and inspiring presentations. Just minutes after we arrived, Kate Kelleher and I joined a group of women to tour the Peace Park. Mr. John Attig, the visionary of the Nobel Peace Laureate Project, was there to greet us.

Mr. Attig started with this question, "Who can name five U.S. Nobel Peace Prize recipients?" He waited but we, as a group, couldn't deliver much. Then Mr. Attig asked, "Can anyone name five U.S. Generals?" We showed more confidence and knowledge with this question. Our group began shouting out names: "Washington, Lee, Grant, Patton, Eisenhower, Mac Arthur, Powell."

Dana Murphy, Sandy Watts, Marie Cramer, Yvonne Fasold, Carol Adams

Mr. Attig then clarified his point. He explained that it is time to honor our peacemakers as well as our war heroes. The Peace Park honors Americans who have received the international award for their contributions to world peace. It is the first memorial in the United States to honor all of the American Peace Laureates. We proceeded on the spiral path into the park to read the accomplishments of the peacemakers as we approached their individual plaques. Our exploration was personalized when we found the plaque of the person whose name we were wearing! Earlier, Yvonne Fasold presented each of us with a suffrage-like sash personalized with the name of an American Peace Laureate. This first activity set the stage for more inspirational moments to come! Read more at www.nobelpeace laureates.org

Claire Wiles, one of our keynote speakers, is a U.S. Navy Veteran, a teacher at North Eugene High School, and Lambda Chapter president. She shared a very touching journey from war zone Iraq, where she was called to give intelligence briefings to 3- and 4-star generals, to home. Once again in Eugene, Claire developed a curriculum called "Peace, Justice and Human Rights," a study of nonviolent movements and their effectiveness. It was a very inspiring presentation! Resources for peace curricula are available for all levels at these websites: (1) www.del-takappagamma.org/CT/hopenews.php or (2) www.nobelpeace laureates.org

We attended several great workshops. One that really struck a chord with me was titled "Peace Hopes for the Middle East." This might have been the most moving dialogue of all. We listened to two young women: Yaara Tal (an Israeli) sitting next to her friend, Deema Yusef (a Palestinian) as they shared their stories. These two girls have been trained by Creativity for Peace in deep listening and honest dialogue that make peace possible in our conflict-torn world. They shared experiences of journeying into peace in the midst of war and chaos. Honest, inspiring, remarkable! Both attend Lane Community College now and are using their training to educate others. Explore further at www.creativityforpeace.com

By this time, we were so inspired that we, Kate Kelleher and Dana Murphy, decided to make a motion to the general assembly to collect donations for an engraved paver/brick that would commemorate the 2015 DKG Convention, Teach Peace, to be placed in Peace Park. The motion passed and we collected $311: $200 to the Peace Laureate Project for a personalized DKG paver; $111 to the Creativity for Peace Camp. Many thanks to everyone for so generously supporting this idea. Speaking of generosity, we also came home with a pile of donated books for our Little Free Library.

Kate Kelleher, Catie Thurber-Brown, Shirley Anderson as Catie realizes she has been honored.

Last, but certainly not least! Our own dear Catie Thurber-Brown received the prestigious Service to Alpha Rho State Award at the Rose Banquet on Saturday. Congratulations, Catie!

Dana Murphy, Beta Beta

A VERY SPECIAL THANK YOU

Hi Kathy,

My name is Sharlene Wilkins. I am writing to you on behalf of my aunt Dr. Neva Neill from La Grande, Oregon.

Neva called me today and was feeling so honored to have received a Red Rose and Certificate recognizing her 100th birthday from you, the Alpha Rho State President. She asked if I could contact you and thank you for her. She isn't quite able to make the call or write you a note herself, but she did want to make sure that you were thanked for this remembrance.

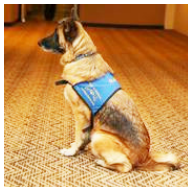

Delta Kappa Gamma has always been an important part of her life, and I want to also thank you for remembering her at this great milestone in her life. She is an amazing, loving woman at 100+ years old.

Thank You, Sharlene

WONDERFUL WORKSHOPS!

If you had been here, you'd have been as "wowed" as we were! Wonderful topics, great presenters, time for questions, good materials to take home, skills to use immediately in our working and personal lives, and inspiring presentations to help us all think about peace.

FINAL BEAR UPDATE

One of the goals for my biennium was to implement the Building Early Academic Readiness (B.E.A.R.) Program into ten Oregon schools and to help them maintain it once it was started. I am proud to say that next fall it looks like the program will be in nine schools in different places around Oregon. Mills Elementary in Klamath Falls and Lewis and Clark Elementary in St. Helens will be on their third year with the program. Athena Elementary and Willamina Elementary will be starting their second year. New to the program, but ready to go, will be Greenwood School in LaGrande, Dry Hollow Elementary in The Dalles, Evergreen Elementary in Cave Junction, and Seaside Heights in Seaside. Schools reported they are forming partnerships in their areas and are using the BEAR Program to help advertise other programs their schools are working on. Everyone seems excited about the program and the benefits of introducing the literacy focus to future students at an early age.

I still have enough supplies to implement the program into one more school. If your chapter is interested in helping support a school, please let me know soon. We want to get it introduced to the school this spring so they are ready to implement in the fall.

THANK YOU FOR THE BOOKS!

Omega Chapter's BEAR Suitcase: Ready to go for reading!

Thank you to members attending state convention for their generous donations of books for both the BEAR Program and Little Free Libraries. Chapters who brought decorated boxes were able to go home with books to help continue their literacy programs. The children of our state are the lucky ones! They will be able to have books in their homes as they develop their "Love of Reading" and work toward "Educational Excellence."

CHAPTER CHATTER

Epsilon (Medford & Ashland):

Show & Tell of Historic Hats: On March 21, Ann Wilton, from Renaissance Rose in Ashland, presented an interesting and lively program. She brought her collection of hats from the past. Some members modeled the hats and were to line up in chronological order by the era in which the hats were popular. It was not an easy task! With Ann's guidance, the correct order was achieved. Ann's narration of the stages of hat designs was informative

Omega (Josephine Co.): Nine members enjoyed convention (and felt peace-full as a result). Lois Mac-Millan wowed us in May with her presentation on using original documents from historical periods to teach literacy skills. Our sisters have been actively collaborating on an informational letter to kick off the BEAR Program at Evergreen Elementary. We await resumes of three prospective new members and the return of previous members. We are exploring options for fundraising and membership. It was an amazing week with passion, inspiration, and development, all fueled by our ambition to serve others. Omega's light is burning brightly.

Lambda (Lane Co.): is having its annual Garage Sale at the home of Dr. Yvonne Fasold on Saturday, June 6. Proceeds support a 5th year teacher graduate student. Just in time for the garage sale, Lambda's Literacy Committee will install a Little Free Library stocked with books for neighbors and school age children. We are thrilled to see this happen. Another project we hope to accomplish is to help Yaara Tal find funding to attend the University of Oregon. Yaara and her roommate Deema Yusuf spoke at one of our convention workshops on Peace in the Middle East. Both young women impressed us all with their commitment to understanding and hope for peace in the midst of war and turmoil.

Alpha Omicron (St. Helens): Alpha Omicron had 7 of our 13 members attend state convention this year. Our newest member, Fonda "Two Weeks" Lawson, was a "star" at Friday night's "games." All seven members in attendance were actively involved at convention. We are proud of the energy our small chapter puts forth! The program presenter for our May meeting will be Nell Harrison, speaking about the new Veteran's Park in Columbia City. The park will be dedicated on May 25.

Alpha Epsilon (Salem & Polk Co): was excited to have six members present at convention in Eugene. We look forward to supporting Cindy Ryan in her new role as Oregon State President. Our members and guests will be taking a tour of Liberty House in Salem for our last program of this year. We donated many hand-tied fleece blankets to children who are receiving services. Next year we plan to continue supporting the Early Career Educators we have been following the last three years. One or more may be ready to join our chapter!

Beta Beta (Tigard/Tualatin/Sherwood): Members hosted Valerie Geary's book talk on April 13. Her latest book, Crooked River, has been hailed as "a remarkable, assured and inventive debut novel of literary suspense by a talented new Oregonian writer." Beta Beta reached out to other chapters and encouraged them to join us. This presentation by Ms. Geary created networking opportunities for budding authors and was a very enjoyable program for our members, including two new members we initiated that evening.

Pi (Hood River & Sherman/Wasco/Wheeler Counties): After fund-raising at their December Brunch/Auction and March Soup for Scholarship, Pi Chapter will be awarding their teacher scholarship at the May meeting. We will also recognize the Woman of Achievement and the Student of Achievement.

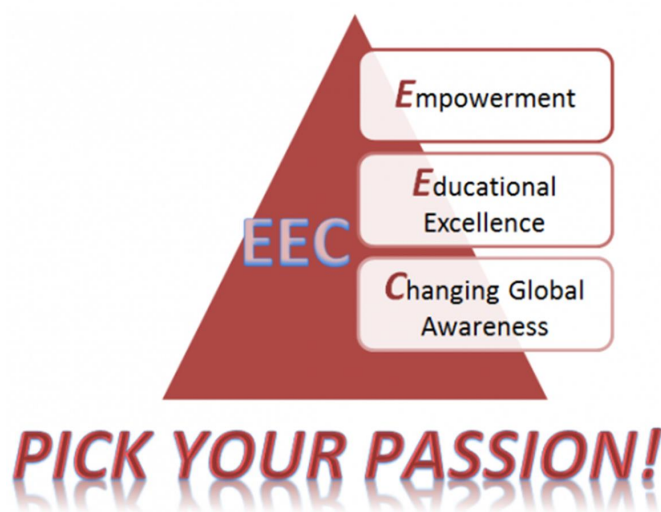

Chi (Clackamas): Chi has experienced some outstanding programs this year. Visits to several community programs were made while chapter guests also brought news of activities. In December, gifts were sent to The Inn, a shelter for homeless young persons in Clackamas County. In addition to personal hygiene items and sports equipment, members donated $165 to The Inn for their behavior modification program. In February, numerous dental hygiene items were taken to the Milwaukie High Wellness program. This unique program is run by the district and serves middle and high school students who have personal needs. In March, Chi donated a music scholarship to a student enrolled in the Youth Music Program in West Linn. This is a special program for students who cannot afford music lessons or the rental or purchase of an instrument. Chi is proud to be serving students in local school districts.

TREASURERS, TAKE NOTE!

State Active and Reserve dues have increased by $1 for this biennium. State Active Dues are now $22 and State Reserve Dues are $12. The totals for State and International Dues, plus the Scholarship Fee, are $63 for Active and $33 for Reserve members.

ALPHA RHO STATE CONVENTION 2015: WHAT AN UNFORGETTABLE EXPERIENCE

Being part of this wonderful International Society for Key Women Educators has been one of the most amazing experiences in my life, not only as a person but also as a professional.

Taking part of the International Administrative Board where I have duties to do as the Latin American Representative gave me the great honor to be invited by the state of Oregon to attend their 2015 Convention as the International Representative.

Walking into the airport and identifying Kathy Martell and Cindy Ryan was the first amazing thing, that feeling that we have known each other forever was great and unique. I enjoyed everything from the very first moment I met them until the moment I said goodbye.

Meeting incredible women; talking and listening to them sharing their knowledge and experiences; reflecting about peace in our lives, classrooms, communities and countries; chatting, eating, drinking and having fun during the convention; and carrying a wonderful basket filled with treasures—all of these have provided a fascinating chance to strengthen our Society through making new friends and being part of the wonderful family we have in DKG.

It doesn't matter what language you speak, what skin color you have, or what culture and ideology you practice—the most important thing is that you know that whenever you have the occasion to take part in any activity of the Society anywhere in the world, as a member, speaker, guest or representative, you will find a friend there who is a passionate teacher just like you.

What an unforgettable experience! I was delighted and thankful for my time in Oregon. 85 Years and Beyond: Advancing Key Women Educators for Life!

- Baskets: $1,155 (Divided between scholarships and support for early-career educators who have difficulty paying dues.)

FYI: 19 chapters presented 26 lovely baskets, including the “watermelon” basket. Catie Thurber-Brown won it, then promptly gifted it to Tamara Flores Hernandez, who loves all things watermelon.

ORDER OF THE ROSE

Chapters, take note! At the 2015 Alpha Rho Convention, requirements for receiving the Order of the Rose were updated. Chapters must meet all requirements for the Rosette Award (see below). With DKG International's emphasis on the three R's of membership--Retention, Recruitment, and Reinstatement--revised Order of the Rose requirements also require that:

- Chapters of 30 members or below must initiate or reinstate 1 member,
 - Chapters of 31-60 members must initiate or reinstate 2 members,
 - Chapters of 61 members or more must initiate or reinstate 3 members,
- between April 1 of the year preceding the convention or conference and March 31 of the year of the convention or conference.

Sadly, this year there were no recipients of the Order of the Rose. With revisions to the award and additional emphasis on reinstatement of former members, plan now so that Oregon's 2016 Conference will have many chapters receiving the Order of the Rose honor.
